

James Burbach is a 25 year veteran of the United States Army. During his career he has served in many different units in varied capacities as a First Sergeant most of which fall under the U.S. Army Medical Command's Medical Department (AMEDD). During the final years of his career he served as the Western Regional Medical Commands senior training advisor in all medical matters.

James has served as a SOCOM Care Coalition Recovery Care Coordinator since September 2011. As a Recover Care Coordinator, he is a member of a highly qualified team that is completely synchronized and integrated with the USSOCOM Care Coalition to offer exceptional support to our nation's Wounded SOF Warriors and their families. In this role, James assists with issues related to health care, benefits, pay, entitlements and medical and physical evaluation boards, works in collaboration with the Department of Defense, Veterans Affairs, and non-governmental organizations to provide maximum benefits for the Wounded Warrior, and provides guidance to the Wounded Warriors to assist in making informed decisions regarding their military service/civilian career.

James holds a Bachelor of Science from Colorado Technical University and enjoys any activities that include sports, traveling, physical activity and family. He resides in San Antonio, TX with his wife Gina married 8 years. His family includes two sons, Damian (12 yrs) and Jonathon (16 yrs). James is currently pursuing his Masters Degree with the Keller Graduate School of Management.